This has been the mildest and most desirable autumn ever, for farmers in this section. The thermometer previous to Jan. 4, has hit below zero once, while it was above Dec. 1st; also we have had a snow storm on Dec. 10th, and a heavy snowed all afternoon and a part of the night and the following morning we were able to put the rule down to the twelve inch mark, and the following morning we had a snow storm, and a heavy snow, and residents along the Green Wood road were looking out of the windows at 9 p. m., at the town tractor snow plow pass along the street, making it possible to travel. The following morning, Jan. 6, the next morning as far as traveling conditions were concerned, in carpet slippers and at around nine a. m. the weather was as warm as the weather in March. Linn Bartlett went to East Summer where Linn Parker's horses to have them shod.

Lionel Bartlett and Charlie Parker were rabbit hunting, Monday morning was Charlie's holiday, which is his day to be out of the house, and he had to be home only about one hour old. Charlie looked forward to a prosperous future among tall timber with this fashionable be-

As usual there was a large gathering of the Toltetics during the last Saturday afternoon during this terrific snow storm, Alpha Varney, 2, Lapham, Julian Dyer, Jerry and Ir. Bartlett went over into Hartford, riding on the train, to look for the rabbits hunting, returning at dusk. The boys were very successful in getting the rabbits this season as well as everything else, is on the down grade. And the boys have to seek other locations as well. The boys are hunting in the woods, not there, instead of nearby wood lots. There is no question that Olympia is the best place to hunt for rabbits to be found and there has been very few here the hunt mark shot above of this dog this season and he is strictly fox and deer proof, to step out and buy a dog in his class would represent a large sum of money. The boys are very successful in the sport of rabbits being thirty-five cents, sport there is in hunting them can be used at least thirty-five cents more than totals up to seventy cents and not so

The best of weather and the thermometer has been below zero only three times here this season.

SUMNER

About all the news is that our local butcher, Linn Farrar, recently butchered two hundred pound hams for the Emerson Bartlett and the other of Emerson Bartlett, as well as several for other neighbors, some of which weighed around four hundred pounds.

Deer were a little more plentiful around here this last season and several were shot in this vicinity, though if correctly informed, Irvin Bartlett was the only neighbor living this side of the pond to land one.

This has been the mildest and most desirable autumn ever, for farmers in this section. The thermometer previous to Jan. 4, has hit below zero once, which was around Dec. 1st; also we have had no snow to speak of until Jan. 2nd, it snowed all afternoon and a part of the night and the following morning we were able to put the rule down to the twelve inch mark, and the following morning the thermometer was down to eight below zero, and residents along the Green Woods road were looking out of the windows at 9 p. m., at the town tractor snow plow pass along the street, making it possible for one to walk along our country road the next morning as far as traveling conditions were concerned, in expert slippers, and at around nine a. m., the weather was as warm and sunny as in March, and Irvin Bartlett went to East Sumner with Linn Farrar's horses to have them shod.

Lionel Bartlett and Charlie Farrar went rabbit hunting, Monday morning with Charlie's hound, which is said to be a blue blooded Southern cone hound, though only about one year old. Charlie looks forward to a prosperous future among the tall timber with this fashionable breed canine.

Linn Farrar with his pack of famous hounds and Lionel Bartlett have been fox hunting steadily for a couple of weeks with sometimes, Julian Dyer also going. Oh, we don't know how many foxes they have brought in, but the season is young yet, and there is no doubt but what foxes they have now on hand and those that they will get later will be a large harvest. Just previous to Lionel's joining the chase, during one week, Linn shot four as they were coming through the same barway. Of course the weather being so windy along with the traveling conditions being icy has been much against fox hunting conditions.

As usual there are a lot of people hauling sawdust from the Tebbets birch mill. Last Saturday afternoon during the terrible snow storm, Oliph Varney, Mr. Lapham, Julian Dyer, Jerry and Irvin Bartlett went over into Hartford, rabbit hunting, returning at dusk with a total of fourteen rabbits. The quotations on rabbits this season as well as everything else, is on the down grade. And the boys have to seek other locations as well, for them, instead of nearby wood lots. There is no question that Oliph Varney has the best rabbit hound anywhere to be found, and there has been way above the hundred mark shot ahead of this dog this season, and he is strictly fox and deer proof, and to step out and buy a dog in his class would represent a large roll of Uncle Sam's goods. Oliph says with the price of rabbits being thirty-five cents, the sport there is in hunting them can be figured at least thirty-five cents more which totals up to seventy cents and not so bad after all, eh boys?

Bunn Gammon moved Will Crockett and family from Weld, the latter part of December, back to his old home town, Sumner, onto John Libby's farm on Field Hill.

Joseph Bosse recently killed his old family horse, a pet of the family for many years.

Linn Farrar, with his horses, hauled wood for Carl Abbott, Tuesday, the 5th. Jerry and Irvin Bartlett cut wood for Arlon Farrar the same day.

Mrs. Emerson Bartlett visited Mrs. Robert Millett, Jan. 5th.

Charlie Farrar recently told the writer of a simple recipe for preparing the fresh water snail for the inner man. Hold him upright by the tail, light a match and hold directly underneath and when the match goes out your miniature fish is ready to serve.

Tuesday, the 5th, Dermont Robbins and son from Redding, were down to the birch mill for a truck load of sawdust; also Leonard Andrews and son from Hartford were down for a truck load.

Linn Farrar went to Lewiston, Monday, the 4th, on business.

P. V. Redding went to Rumford, the 5th.

The writer wishes to say that he was deeply interested in those items in last week's issue concerning those Hoxie oxen, that delivered a load of potatoes to Mr. Hoover in Washington, recently. "Thank goodness, there's ONE question
that's easy to settle!"

LOTS of family budget problems there are at the beginning of the New Year.

But one problem requires no debate. You don't have to ask, "What gasoline and motor oil shall we buy?" You know that the money you spend with Socony will buy the best gasoline and the best motor oil at fair prices, every day, everywhere, in any city or town, at any cross-roads anywhere in New York and New England.

Socony was the first maker of gasoline and motor oil in this territory. It has had the most years of experience. Its products—Socony Banner Gasoline, Socony Special plus Ethyl, and Socony De-waxed Motor Oil—are purchased by more car owners than any other products. It has the largest number of convenient service stations.

This great enterprise is absolutely dependent upon the good-will of the automobile owners of New York and New England... upon your good-will.

To protect and increase this good-will the Standard Oil Company of New York, Inc., has built a great organization and made a tremendous investment. It cannot take chances on quality. It must make superior products. It must charge fair prices. It must give courteous, prompt, cheerful service.

You will do better for yourself and for your car if you do not buy gasoline or motor oil hit or miss. You will be much wiser to pick a brand of gasoline and motor oil, and stick to it.

We invite you to pick the brand which the greatest number of motorists in New York and New England have picked. We must keep you satisfied, and we will.

Robert Smith found a pair of gold nose rings on Upper Main St., near E. Skiff's residence, and has brought them here for the owner.

Sent in: Dear Sir, I saw an ad. in your paper yesterday which stated that if you could find a pair of gold nose rings on Upper Main St., near E. Skiff's residence, and has brought them here for the owner.

A silver ear ring in the latest specimen for our Trust and Treasure museum. Mrs. Lewis L. Gilbert found the ear ornament on Winter street, Sunday, and passed it along. Owner can find the property at this office. Our collection of lost articles is nearly complete.

The World Achievement edition of the Christian Science Monitor under the date Jan. 7, came to the office and is a carefully edited sheet. The world's doings for the year just past has been condensed and summarized for handy reference. A rotogravure section of thirty pages adds much as a pictorial survey of big and odd things in the world.

The Noyes Drug Store Druggist, Frank Kimball of Freeport, Me., was a caller last Tuesday. He is a high type of a pharmacist and is a devotee of the music and reminiscences. He invited us to join him at the next Shiner meeting in Lewiston, promising to give a special prize to some of the old ones still remaining and a look at the younger crowd now in control.

M. W. Burnell of Harrison was a caller Saturday afternoon to place advertising for the winter carnival to be held there Saturday, Jan. 23. The American Legion and other fraternal orders are behind the movement to make this first show in the community one long to be remembered. Outdoor sports of all kinds will be open to students in Harrison and neighboring towns and worthwhile prizes will be offered to promote friendly competition.

Lewis Proctor of West Paris, advance agent for the West Paris minstrels, called Monday and told us about the show to be repeated at Association Hall, South Paris, Friday evening, Jan. 15. A circle with funny old men, singers of popular songs and breezy comedies will be followed by vaudeville and a public dance. The entertainment, given at West Paris, Jan. 7, went over big with the Grange Hall packed. This is a community project and all receipts will go for the public ice rink and other activities there.

The veteran maple tree standing on Fair street behind Whitman's filling station, has been reduced to cord wood. Fred Whitman had the dead tree late last week and has many large logs too large for easy splitting. The butt measured seven feet in circumference and ninety-eight rings were counted. A margin too compact for a separation of the annual growth represented at least ten more rings. This massive tree had marked a corner at the former Henry B. Foster place now owned by Mr. Whitman, possible a century. We have yet to find a Ward Eightier who can remember when the sentinel was not there.

Dear Advertiser Friends: I want you to know about a smart old lady we have over this way, no matter about her name, but this fall she has knit seven pairs of mittens and given them away. She bought a piece of wool last fall, washed and picked it, sent it to the mill to be carded and now she is spinning it. The other night she had callers and she wanted them to know how smart she was, so she told them of her seven pairs of mittens. The lady said, "Lord, mother has knit twenty pair and given them away this winter. She lives at North Bridge, ton," and she said, "I feel like a contented hen." I thought I had done wonders, but I guess I don't amount to much when I see what others are doing."

Glen R. McIntire, secretary of the Norway Board of Trade, received a letter this week from Robert C. Jackson of 192 Harvard St., Everett, Mass., as follows: "I am interested in pictures of the cars used by the Street Railway that ran between Norway and Paris, as I am engaged in making a 'Historical Picture Review' of the New England street railway industry. Any photos of either open or closed cars, freight cars, or snow plows from which I may be able to obtain copies or negatives from which to obtain reprints, will be of great assistance to me, as I am trying to make a complete collection to use."

"It may be possible that some of the former employees have negatives, or a local photographer. I am also interested in horse car pictures, if any ever existed in either Norway or Paris."

C. D. Waters, Montpelier, Vt., writes: "A few days ago when looking over my old books salvaged from the flood wreck of 1927, I found a book written by a local friend, Howard D. Smith, entitled the 'Centennial History of Oxford Lodge, F. & A. M.' In it I found the record of the first committee to build the Masonic Hall. It consisted of C. H. Sargent, C. S. Tucker, F. A. Danforth, H. D. Smith and C. L. Hathaway. The Building Committee appointed were John L. Home, Geo. C. Cule and C. M. Smith for Lodge and C. D. Waters, Geo. W. Hobbs and Wm. A. Frothingham for the Chapter. Afterwards H. D. Smith and myself were made a committee to raise the required funds and pay the bills."

"I think we did our work well as the building was finally completed and paid for, I believe, although that last happy event took place after I had left the country. The point to which I want to call your attention is that I believe I am the last one—I am not sure about Mr. Frothingham—of this detail of craftsmen to inhabit the earth and look upon the work that we labored so hard to accomplish almost fifty years ago. I wonder how many others there are who were with us during those memorable years."

NEW HUNTING-FISHING LICENSE

Maine allowed use of 1930 fishing licenses in 1931, but those who plan to do either fishing or hunting in the year 1932, will find it necessary to have new licenses. The 1931 licenses expired Dec. 31. New ones, now obtainable from town clerks are good until Jan. 1, 1932.

The state charges 65 cents for either resident fishing or hunting, and $1.15 for a combination. $8.15 for non-resident fishing or bird and small game hunting, and $5.15 non-resident big game. List of state licenses, between the ages of 10 and 16, must have a special license, costing $1.15, according to a law which became effective July 3, 1931. Residents of Maine, who have not passed the age of 16 may hunt or fish without a license.
